ALEXANDER CAMERON
PASSES AT COLEMAN

Another of The Pass pioneers passed to his eternal reward at Coleman on Thursday night last, in the person of Alex. Cameron.

Mr. Cameron had been a resident of the district for upwards of thirty years. In the early days he was engaged at Frank, where he was engaged in the jewelry business. He later moved to Coleman, where he has resided for the past twenty-six years or more. For many years Mr. Cameron was identified with municipal and school government at Coleman, serving many years as member of the school board, the greater part of which as chairman. He also served many years on the Coleman town council and besides being Coleman's first school board chairman, he also had the honor of being the first to act as chief magistrate there.

He was about 86 years of age, was closely identified with the Masonic Order, under his auspices of which the funeral was held on Monday afternoon. He came from Ontario, and besides vested interests in Coleman, he owned a fruit farm at Wyndel, B.C., where for some years past he has spent his summer months.

His birthplace was in the north of Scotland, and when 21 years of age he emigrated to Ontario, coming west in 1901. Surviving members of the family are two daughters, Mrs. Willsie, of Clinton, Ontario; Mrs. Flora McDonald, of Toronto, and a son, W. A. Cameron, of Mitchell, Ontario.

Funeral service was conducted by Revs. Roy Taylor and A. E. Larke. Mr. Taylor paid eloquent tribute to the life of Mr. Cameron. Rev. Canon Middleton, past grand master of the Alberta Grand Lodge of the A.F. & A.M., represented the grand lodge, and all lodges in the district were well represented.

Mayor George Pattinson has another year to serve.

BLAIRMORE ISSUES AN ABSOLUTELY RED MANIFESTO

A friend of ours has handed us a sheet which contains in some sort of typewritten form what is purported to be the manifesto of the present Town Council and School Board of Blairmore. It is followed by the footnote that it is "The manifesto issued and distributed for the Election Committee of the Mine Workers of Canada, Blairmore Unit No. 1, and as a Paid Ad."

For the benefit of many of our ratepayers who otherwise would never have seen it, also that the people of Canada who are white at heart might glean a knowledge of just how far the Red element are prepared to go, we are reproducing same at no cost to the ratepayers of Blairmore or any element of the people of Canada but ourselves. It is worthy of serious study on the part of those who consider themselves worthy British subjects, and also our provincial and federal governments, who are granting the loose rope necessary for such opposing element to hang themselves. Here is that silly document as published and purported to be paid for.

Note, we are not responsible for bad spelling, etc. It is reproduced as published. Apparently it wasn't worthy of the signature of the author.

Due to there being no opposition, which resulted in an election by acclamation of the Worker's candidates, this manifesto is being published to acquaint the workers of Blairmore with the program which the candidates have pledged themselves to follow.

In analyzing the work carried out by the Council and School Board during the past year, we find that the worker's representatives carried out some good work, not only in Blairmore, but in taking a leading part in helping to bring about unity of the miners in the Crows Nest Pass (e.g. organizing joint first of May demonstrations with miners in Michel).

They have used their positions in the Council to mobilize the workers of Blairmore in support of the struggles of the Canadian Working Class, such as: Demanding the release of Tim Buck and his comrades from Kingston Penitentiary; welcoming A. E. Smith and Malcolm Bruce to Blairmore; sending protests to the Provincial Government against conditions in the "relief camps"; gave cash contributions towards sending delegates to the National Congress against War and Fascism, etc. The worker's school board can also show some progress along working class lines such as: Declaring school holidays on May 1st and November 7th; carrying on work amongst the teachers in bringing them closer to our working class organizations; securing free Dental treatment to those children who needed same; free spectacles to students and tuition to children of the unemployed in the higher grades, etc.

As we note these achievements, we also note some short-comings which must be corrected during the coming year, chief among which is the absence of close personal contact between the Worker's representatives and their organizations. They did not take full advantage of their elected positions to organize and mobilize the workers (especially the unemployed) around their immediate needs. They did not organize wide discussions on the work of the council and the school board with the workers. There is also the tendency to "Play Politics" among the members of the Council and to collaborate and negotiate with the provincial government and the "Powers that Be" in matters of working class interest (especially the unemployed) rather than organizing and leading the struggles of the workers.

Program of Worker's Candidates
1. All worker's candidates to the Council and School Board pledge

HAUPTMANN GUILTY

Bruno Richard Hauptmann was yesterday convicted of the murder of the Lindbergh baby during its kidnapping three years ago, and sentenced to death in the electric chair in the month of March—the week of March 15th.

The jury, after having deliberated for 31 hours, returned a verdict of "guilty of murder in the first degree."

AMATTO—GALLIOTTI

The marriage took place here on Saturday morning last, at St. Anne's Catholic church, of Mary Nancy Galliotti, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Galliotti, to Joseph, son of the late Frank and Mrs. Amatto. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. M. Harrington.

The bride, who wore a white gown of tulle lace, with veil and wreath of orange blossoms and matching accessories, and carrying a bouquet of pink carnations, was given in marriage by her father. She was attended by Miss Teresa Rinzani as bridesmaid, who wore a costume of peach crepe and matching accessories, and whose bouquet was also of pink carnations. The groom was supported by Louis Pinotti, of Fernie, B.C.

Immediately after the ceremony, the happy couple, immediate relatives and invited guests proceeded to the home of the groom's mother, where the wedding breakfast was served. The young couple will reside here.

Mrs. T. Lebel died at Pincher Creek on Thursday last. The remains were laid to rest on Saturday.

themselves to use their elected positions to organize a broad united front of all people against War and Fascism.

2. To support the miners in all their struggles against the Coal Company.

3. In case of strike to use every means at their disposal to support the strikers.

4. To do everything in their power to establish the greatest possible unity between the worker's organizations and their representatives on the Council and the School Board, by giving periodical reports on the work of the Council and School Board to the M.W.U.C., and by calling meetings of all people in Blairmore at least once every two months, where reports will be given.

5. To call special meeting of workers and discuss with them important matters coming up before taking action on same.

6. To take a leading part in organizing the unemployed around their immediate demands, to carry on the fight for the relief for the single unemployed with the Provincial Government, to issue immediate emergency relief to all contentious cases (as to jurisdiction between the Provincial Government and the Town) until such times as responsibility is established.

To see that the unemployed are adequately clothed, and, where the Provincial Government refuses, to issue clothing out of the town treasury.

7. To seek to place the burden of taxation where it belongs, on the shoulders of those most able to pay, and to make the basic needs of the workers their first consideration.

8. To hold periodic conferences with the school staff to which representatives of working class organizations are invited.

9. To concentrate more on working class education in the school.

10. To organize the school children into children's clubs (Miner's Children Clubs, Pioneer, etc.)

11. That May first and November seventh be declared Town and School holidays.

TRELLE RECALLS SCHOOL DAYS IN BLAIRMORE

At the recent annual convention of the Alberta School Trustees Association, held in Edmonton, Mr. W. B. Chappel, of Blairmore, had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Herman Trelle, former world's champion wheat grower, who was present as representative of the Wembley school district. Knowing the discussions which have taken place in the last few years relating to the question of where the famous one-time resident of the Crows' Nest Pass first attended school, Mr. Chappel asked him to give a statement of facts, and the following statement obtained from Mr. Trelle will be of interest to all residents of this district:

"Our first Alberta home was an old Indian cabin built of logs down near the sulphur springs near Frank. My first schooling—in Canada—was in Frank, Alberta, from the opening of the Frank townsite in 1901 until Frank slide on April 29th, 1903.

"In the fall of 1903, and until the opening of Rev. Robinson's school in Coleman (about 1904) I attended school in Blairmore.

"One of my teachers was Miss Rhynas, now Mrs. J. H. Farmer, at present residing in Blairmore.

"I attended the first school in Coleman and was a student in the larger one built about 1906.

"In 1907 we moved to Edmonton, where I completed high school, and was attending university when war was declared in 1914."

Conversation revealed that Mr. Trelle had a splendid memory, and was well posted on the early history of the Crows' Nest Pass.

SYNOPSIS

"You've fallen heir to a half-share in plenty of trouble," the lawyer told Gerald Keene. "The Broken Spur has been systematically looting the ranch, and old Joe Carr, your partner, is drinking himself into ruin."

Dad Kane, desert rat and luckless prospector, lost now returns to tell Dustin and Spike Goddard, who had grubstaked him, of his discovery of a rich gold mine, and shows samples of the ore.

Dustin unexpectedly comes along while Stone and Edith are riding fence, and seeing them, stops and talks to Edith. He mentions their dispute could be settled by marrying him, and Edith refuses his proposal with remarks that make Dustin furious. He insults Stone, who promptly throws him into a pool of water.

Stone tells Crewe, his foreman, about his meeting with Dustin. Stone and Crewe go to Seco to send a telegram to Gerald Keene. While at Seco an attempt is made to kill Stone, who proves more than a match for his enemies.

Dustin learns that Gerald Keene has been sent for, and also that Duro Stone has seen the Broken Spur men rustling Carr's cattle. He sets out with Dad Kane to learn the location of his gold discovery. Dad Kane shows Dustin the mine.

They go back to camp, and Dustin shoots Kane. He fixes the shooting on Peyotí Gregg, a drug addict, who, stupified by the narcotic he had taken, did not know whether he was guilty or not. They bury Kane and then return to the Broken Spur ranch.

Meanwhile at the Hour Glass, Carr, Crewe and Stone speculate as to the meaning of entries in the notebook belonging to Dane Kane that Stone had found. Stone thinks of a possible solution, and, accompanied by Edith Carr, rides out to Red Water to test out his theory, which proves correct, and they find the rich gold deposit mentioned in the prospector's notebook. As they return to the ranch, they meet Dustin leaving his house, and he deliberately tries to ride down Stone.

struck the crest of the withers. The gripping legs closed sharply behind the forward cincha and his body swung forward to place his weight where it belonged . . . above that tremendous fore-hand, the weight-carrier. The next moment, when the big black was within fifteen yards, the great Isabella horse launched himself, a living thunderbolt, against him.

The red dust swirled high above them and eddied down in a close-flying cloud and from the heart of that cloud came one sharp oath. The next moment Edith, sitting her half-crazy horse well to the side of the trail, saw . . .

She saw the great Isabella horse, bleeding at mouth and nostrils, pitching wildly as he slid to a halt. She saw Stone . . . Duro Stone, the amateur cow-puncher, who had learned his lore from Wild West fiction and who undoubtedly bought his apparel from a catalog, sitting that itching horse like a cowboy and she saw, and for one short moment did not believe her own eyes, Sam Dustin's big black lying on his side, every leg kicking wildly while his rider lay as still as death beneath him.

"Oh, my God!" she cried sharply, "you've killed him!"

"I'm afraid not, . . ." Stone pitched out of saddle. "Ride on down the trail," he said sharply. "Go at once."

That strange tone in his voice made her stare. Then she went on down the trail and so missed what took place.

Stone almost leaped at Dustin's prostrate figure. A quick jab of his spurred heel made the black struggle to his feet and Duro dragged the unconscious man from the dust of the trail.

Dustin's face was cut from brow to chin and a little trickle of blood oozed from the cut to mingle with the dust and sweat and grime of the encounter. He was breathing heavily in great gasps and as Stone held him clear of the horse, his head fell inertly across Duro's arm.

He laid him on his back along the path under a great mesquite bush and squatted by him.

"I'm sure sorry I didn't break your fool neck," he muttered. "I wonder if you've got anything in your poke yet, then, this thing up."

His lean hands made short work of Dustin's pockets. From the inner coat-pocket he pulled a narrow pocket-book that was filled with papers that he examined swiftly but carefully. At sight of the papers he gave a low whistle of surprise. Then he looked again at Dustin. There was no sign of returning consciousness and after a second glance, Stone returned to a careful reading of the paper.

"Enough. It's clear enough," he muttered. "It's old Joe Carr's note for eleven thousand dollars made to John Pogram and by him transferred to Sam Dustin. Looks bad for Carr. Looks to me like Carr got his money from Pogram; Pogram got scared or needed money, so sold the note to Dustin; then this kid, working with Kane, finds gold on the Hour-Glass and holds Carr's note for more than his share of the ranch. A pretty mean it looks to me. Dustin has sure got a string-hold on Carr. It looks to me as though one Gerald Keene is likely to find himself partner to Sam Dustin first thing he knows. Huh! I reckon it's time to draw cards. What else . . ."

His hands again explored Dustin's pockets and brought out a little chain-link bag that he opened and decanted into his hand. A little pile of glittering schist fell into his palm and a few yellow points that he said was no mistaking.

"Specimens of Kane's ore, of course," he muttered. . . . "Hello! What's this?"

It was a red-and-green package of tightly rolled cigarettes that he found in a small pocket next the skin. He considered them at length. Then he carefully extracted two and placing one in his own pocket he broke the other and rubbed the contents on his tongue. He shook his head in a puzzled way. Then he pulled out the butts that he had found by the fire some hours before and compared them. They were exactly alike.

Very quietly and without haste he thrust his hand back in Dustin's pockets and squatted on his heels till a slight movement told of the man's recovery. A moment later he sat up and rubbed a hand across his face; then his eyes fell on Stone and his face darkened under its blood and grime.

"I owe you one for this," he growled, struggling to his feet.

"That's all right," said Stone lightly. "I'm glad to do it. I saw that you wanted to show off before Edith so I helped you. But if I were you, before you try it again, I'd take a course in riding. You can get a cook or a horse-wrangler at some Dude Ranch to show you how to sit a horse. It only needs practice. I'd do it myself but I haven't got time. My time seems to be taken up with trying to break your damned neck instead of savin' it!"

The utter scorn in his voice made Dustin wince. He flushed in alliance and thrust a hand into his coat pocket. His grunt of satisfaction was expressive. His clothing had not been looted. He walked unsteadily to his horse that stood with drooping head and heaving flanks.

"Of course you know I'll pay you for this. If my cinch hadn't broken

Thud was true enough. The rear cinch had parted.

"A weak cinch is a sure sign of mental degeneracy," said Stone. "Any good text-book will tell you to be sure of your equipment before you try trick riding."

While Dustin was staring evilly at him, he swung into saddle and thrust his great Isabella horse into full stride and caught up with Edith as she neared the house. Crewe was standing on the porch and greeted them as they rode up to the house.

"D you all meet up with Dustin anywhere along the trail?" he asked as Stone took Edith's horse.

"Yeah. We met him all right," said Stone. "He tried to ride me down but his horse slipped I reckon."

"Slipped nothing . . ." Edith laughed sharply. "That big black of his doesn't slip. The man tried to ride Duro down in the gulpe de caballo. . . . He . . . He made a mistake. That's all!"

Frank Crewe asked no questions. He knew what happens when a man makes a mistake in the gulpe de caballo. There a man has but one chance.

"You'd better go in the house at once, Edith," he said heavily. "Joe wants to talk with you."

She glanced uncertainly at him and started for the house and as she went, Stone, seeing her eyes, could have sworn to a new light in them. The moment the door closed behind her, Crewe turned to Stone.

"Hell's broke loose at last," he said. "We know now exactly where that bound Dustin stands. Do you?"

"The last I saw of him he wasn't standin' at all," said Stone grimly. "He was lyin' in the sands with his horse on top of him. . . ."

"Yeah. And because of that, you'll get a bullet through your back some dark night if you're not careful."

"What did Dustin want?" asked Stone.

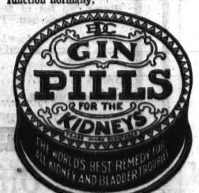

"He came to see Joe," said Crewe carefully. "He offered to settle the lawsuit over Soda Springs and he offered a lot of other things, too, provided . . ."

"Yeah. Well . . . Go on. What's the price? What's the man want?"

"Provided Edith will marry him," Crewe jerked out.

"Oh, I see . . . She ought to do a thing like that," said Stone scornfully. "Listen here, Crewe. I may be on a good trail. I don't know yet. Send me a message. I've got to get to Seco on business for the ranch."

Crewe studied him for a moment and liked what he saw.

"Take the car," he said. "You'd better take this, too. . . ."

He slid back and holstered to Stone and stood watching him get to the little garage behind the bunk house.

Another Rocking Stone

New One Found In Nova Scotia Weighs 72 Tons

While the rocking stone situated at the northwest arm at Halifax, believed to be a relic of a glacier period, has held prominence for many years because of its isolated freak of nature, the district of Springfield, Nova Scotia, all the time has had hidden away a similar and equally unique relic which has just been uncovered.

It is something similar to the Northwest Arm rocking stone, which is said to weigh in the vicinity of 162 tons. The latest phenomenon, which has just been uncovered, is situated at Blanket Hill near the newly constructed road leading from the highway to the milling operations of Hawkins and Zwicker. A gigantic rock, estimated by reliable authority to weigh 72 tons, is balanced so perfectly on a much smaller rock that any man of ordinary strength can rock the tilting piece of granite back and forth on its foundation.

Many a would-be Hercules these days, en route to or from lumber camps, tarries a moment to exhibit to "greenies" his great strength, by lifting the 72-ton mass of solid granite, which in reality is no remarkable feat at all, although it sounds and looks impossible. Only about 100 pounds' lift is sufficient to start the boulder swaying to and fro, yet it never rolls off its base.

More than 1,000 Gideon Bibles were stolen from hotel bedrooms during 1934—a form of theft the Gideons doubtless expect, and count on to do some good.

The popularity of skiing, which has led to the opening of a training school in London, Eng., makes it interesting to recall that this sport was utterly unknown to most Europeans 40 years ago, according to a London newspaper writer.

Lord Conway, when describing his experiences in Spitzbergen no longer than about 1890 felt it necessary to explain in detail the nature and use of skis for his British readers, and did so with such gusto that probably he could register a claim to having first set his countrymen—and women—on the scent of a new winter amusement.

He suggested the skis might be found useful in Alpine climbing, and even ventured a prophecy that "ski-running might become a popular sport in Switzerland."

English Woman Claims She Owns All Of Labrador

The proprietress of a London, Eng., cold cream shop—Mrs. M. Cowan—has just announced that she owns Labrador lock, stock and barrel. Already she has cast possessive eyes on North America's most northeasterly 120,000 square miles, and if her lawyers are right she won't take "no" for an answer.

And here's how she shases her claims:

Her family genealogical table asserts that she is one of 300 direct relatives of a fabulously wealthy Dutch trader, one Isaac de la Penha, whose death in 1700 was a real shock to a less than a person than William of Orange, King of England. The king had every reason to feel badly, too, says Mrs. Cowan, for he owed his life to the rich merchant. It seems that monarch and merchant were sailing close to each other when the royal ship sprung a leak. De la Penha rescued the king, thereby avoiding what might have developed into a decidedly unpleasant piece of business.

As a purple-hued reward De la Penha got Labrador and a standing invitation to visit with his majesty when he was in England. At any rate that's Mrs. Cowan's story, and she is bound she will stick to it—as well as the present owners if she wins her case.—Toronto Star Weekly.

Little Helps For This Week

"Rest in the Lord and wait patiently for Him." Psalm 37:7.

"Trust in Him at all times." Psalm 42:8.

Do not ask when comes His hour? Then when it shall aid thee best. Trust His faithfulness and power, Trust in Him, and quiet rest.

I had found communion with God to consist not only in the silencing of the outward man, but in the silencing of every thought, and in the concentration of the soul and all its powers into a simple quiet watching and waiting for the food which the Heavenly Father might see fit to give or withhold. In no case could it be sent empty away, for if comfort, light or joy were withheld the act of humble waiting at the gate of heavenly wisdom could not but work patience in it, and thus render it by humility and obedience more "meet to be partaker of the inheritance of the saints in light," and also more blessed in itself.—M. A. Kelly.

DRUMHELLER MAY BE ANOTHER GOAT!

The following appeared in last week's issue of the Drumheller Mail, under the caption—"Was it a genuine proposition?"

About four months ago, a representative of a Neon sign company arrived in Drumheller and collected money from several local merchants, who paid for space in an electric clock and advertising sign arrangement, which was to have been erected over the building occupied by the Alexandra Hotel beer gardens. A blue print was presented to prospective buyers of space, who were told that the big sign would be erected in about a month's time, and certainly not later than two months. To this date the sign has not been placed where it was supposed to be, neither has the work of painting the various advertisements commenced, and some of the local merchants who have paid in the tens of dollars for the attractive display and public clock, are wondering just what the delay is.

It is understood that Lehman Systems were to do the painting of the advertisements at a compromised figure. Mr. Lehman got in touch with the company at Edmonton some time ago and received a supply of metal upon which to paint the various advertising copy; this was to have been followed by a blue-print from which to work, but to date the blue-print has not arrived, nor have any further instructions to go ahead with the work.

The proposition may yet be carried out, but three and one-half months of waiting is a long time when a promise was made to have the clock and illuminated advertisements installed in one month's time from the signing of the contracts. It would not be amiss if local merchants who subscribed to this scheme made a united effort to attain some satisfaction from the company at Edmonton.

RICHARD "BONFIRE" BENNETT

In a biography written by a former secretary of the Prime Minister of Canada, Hon. R. B. Bennett, mention is made that the premier was known as Richard "Bonfire" Bennett when he was a budding parliamentarian in the pioneer days of Alberta. The biographer relates that it was owing to his energetic style of utterance and the tumultuous manner in which words poured from his lips that the appellation "Bonfire" was applied to Mr. Bennett.

This explanation is a mistake. The name was applied following an address made by Mr. Bennett when he was a member of the Legislature during the Boer War. He was declaiming against the indiscriminate immigration policy which brought in all kinds of people from continental Europe to this country and he mentioned that on receipt of news of a Boer victory in South Africa there were bonfires burning in some communities in southern Alberta.

The above explanation we believe is historically correct, but we would not guarantee the details. In the interests of accuracy W. M. Davidson, former editor of the Calgary Albertan, should be consulted. It was Mr. Davidson's vitriolic pen which enlarged upon the incident and permanently associated the name "Bonfire" with the present Premier of Canada.—The Hants Herald.

FARMER "HICK" ON THE RETURN OF TITLES

(By Tim Longthorn)

Once we were a nation delivered from snobs, But alas and alack, they are back on their jobs; So kiss ye farewell to democracy's ways And bow down before the aristocrat's gaze.

For an edict has gone from the Parliament house That a plain Mister man is an out of date louse.

And henceforth a gent who's presumed to be great Will be served with a title to swell up his pate.

Now College Professors, so fearfully wise, With highbrows in thousands, an' smart lawyer guys,

Along with stout brewers an' big financiers Are striving most hard to be made knights an' peers.

And the boys who rejoice in political pay, Like the cat smokin' liver are eager an' gay,

For no matter who's left with the baby to hold Them foxy gazooks won't be left in the cold.

Yea, it's fine to revive this queer medieval plan That makes we tin gods for the nation to scan;

An' if I had titles like taters to sell, I'd make them birds pay till it hurt 'em like hell.

NEW UNIVERSITY BUILDING

Edmonton.—Possibilities of the erection of a new building on the campus to house Students' Union offices and athletic facilities are being investigated on the campus this week. Dr. Wallace, president of the University, states that he thinks the building a possibility for the near future. The complete building would cost in the neighborhood of $400,000, but interested students propose to concentrate first on one wing which would house the gymnasium. Before the government could be approached for a loan, students would have to raise at least one quarter of the $150,000 necessary for the gymnasium.

ALBERTA'S BIG GAME

Known as one of the greatest big game hunting areas on the continent, Alberta's mountain area attracted a considerable number of hunters during last fall, although the effects of the general depression have not yet worn off sufficiently to bring the province back to its peak year of 1929. In this respect, when non-resident sportsmen spent some $200,000 in the province. Last fall the province sold 39 general game licenses and 26 special licenses to 35 residents of the United States, and four residents of England. These hunters captured game trophies to the extent of 32 bighorn sheep, 26 mountain goat, 11 caribou, 22 deer and 25 moose, 3 bear and 7 elk, but they spent in the province an estimated sum of $30,000.

Here are the top ten among the registrations in passenger cars:

BUYER QUITS "CHISELING"

"A buyer asked a printer for a quotation on some printing, and the printer quoted $52," ran an item in a weekly letter sent out by W. A. Meeks, manager of the Typothetae of Philadelphia, Inc. "The buyer asked: 'Can you make a profit at that figure?' The printer answered: 'No I can't make my actual cost at that price.' The buyer said: 'Well, make the price $61.50.' The printer almost fainted. This was something new."

"The buyer continued: 'I am firmly convinced that business will never be what it should be until every legitimate firm is making a profit on its sales. I have made up my mind that I will do no more "chiseling." If the other fellow makes a profit in his business he can afford to pay me more goods from me—and to buy for them. From now on I expect these from whom I buy to make a profit. That is my way of helping to bring back prosperity.'"

This experience actually happened to one of the members of the Typothetae of Philadelphia, says The Salmon Arm Observer. The only thing that has been changed is the figures but the difference in the prices quoted is exactly the same percentage of difference as in the original figure. Is this man sane. Is this thinking right? You can buy and sell at lower than cost prices; but then even the buyer can hope for only a temporary gain. Eventually his act will come back to him, because somehow "chickens come home to roost."—Cowichan Leader.

A TRAVELLING MAN'S PRAYER

Oh Lord, look with a forgiving eye, we beseech Thee, on those who lie to us about the low prices that our competitors make. Lord, soften the hearts of the buyers, who, as soon as they see a drummer, get as busy as a hen with one chicken and keep us standing around 'till our feet warp and then buy $2.60 worth and want that billed on the first of the month. Good Lord, curb our tendency to flirt with married women—single ones don't count, as they expect it. Teach us not to complain at the roller towels that the multitude has used before we got there. Lord, give us digestion like alligators that we may be able to digest well the loin steaks, cut from the neck, where the yoke worked. Teach us to be thankful for the stump water served us and called coffee. Toughen our hides that we may sleep in hotel beds already occupied, and cause us to look with a charitable eye on our competitors who are a sorry lot anyway.—Amen.

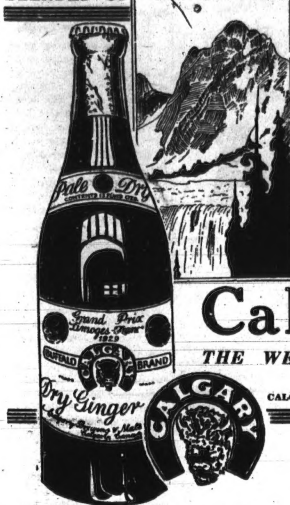

WHY A HOME?

A writer recently told a story of a modern girl who said to a real estate agent when he wanted to sell her a house:

"A home? Why do I need a home? I was born in a hospital, educated in a college, courted in an automobile and married in a church; I live out of the delicatessen and paper bags; I spend my mornings on the golf course, my afternoons at the bridge table and my evenings at the movies; and when I die I am going to be buried at the undertaker's. All I need is a garage." —Wall Street Journal.

One thing may be said about the Neon sign in Blairmore. People are just as much interested right now in reading the advertisements on it as they would be if it ever became a reality.

The present Macleod Gazette is successor to the Fort Macleod Gazette (1882-1908); The Advance (1899-1909); The Weekly Chronicle (1908-1909); The Macleod Advertiser (1909-1912); The Macleod Spectator (1912-1916); The Macleod News (1916-1920); and The Macleod Times (1920-1923). We don't know of any paper in the world with so many ancestors to boast about.

Without its newspaper, the small town would be like a school or church without a pastor or teacher. In the aggregate, the country newspaper exerts a greater influence for constructive community progress, is read longer by more members of the family, and constitutes, with its numerous readers, a better advertising medium than any other group of newspapers or periodical publications. —Prof. J. H. Casey, University of Oklahoma.

A member named Elkes was installed into an executive office by Drumheller Elks.

"We want a new name to describe the careless pedestrian," states a traffic reformer. "Well, what's the matter with the old-fashioned way of describing him as 'the deceased'."

There has been a lot of comment, favorable and otherwise, on Premier Bennett's radio addresses in which he heralds changes in Canadian economic life that are little short of being revolutionary. One of the brightest comments we have read is that of the Ottawa Citizen, in which it said a feature of the opening of parliament will be the appearance of Premier Bennett in Agnes McPhail's clothes.

Bellevue Bulldogs, winning out against the Blairmore Bearcats, will now engage Lethbridge in the second round of the Alberta play-offs, the first game at Bellevue tonight and the second at Lethbridge Saturday night.

Reading that silly "manifesto," one is inclined to ask if Bill Knight really could be its author. Lots of folks feel that Bill is not nearly as red as that document would have him appear.

Tiny Tot: "You're better looking than your daddy."

Ditto: "Course I am. I'm a later model."

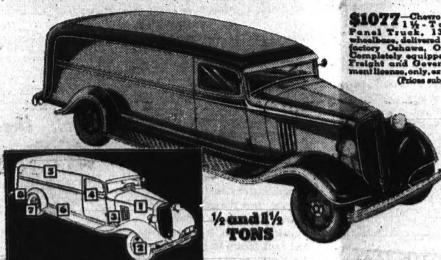

"How is it, my friend," asked the minister, "that you are the only man not to meet his obligations?"

"I run a weekly newspaper," he answered, "and the brethren who stock up are my subscribers. and—"

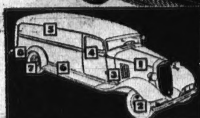

"Let us pray," exclaimed the minister.

The Major Problem

Surfeited and perplexed by the multitude of theories advanced as to the underlying and basic cause of this world economic depression, and equally surfeited and perplexed by the multitude of suggestions, ideas and plans advanced as the only means whereby the depression can be ended and a permanent cure effected, tens of thousands of people are becoming callous and skeptical of all economic theories. More and more people are asking themselves whether this very large problem, vital to the welfare of every individual and to the very existence of the nation and the civilization of the world, is being approached from the right angle.

To an ever increasing extent people are asking whether the provision of old age pensions to prevent poverty and suffering in old age is the solution, or whether that solution is to be found in the creation of conditions whereby men and women can through their own efforts and by shift and saving make necessary provision themselves for their declining years. People are inquiring whether the provision of this and that Government maintained social service to provide for their needs—and all provided for out of taxation—is not merely attempting to cover up "sore" and "doctor" the patient, instead of making the patient well and capable of caring for himself.

People are thinking and asking whether it is not true that, just so long as taxes are piled upon taxes to provide for these social services, the very burden of those taxes is operating to make it impossible for them to take necessary care of themselves and families and make wise provision for their future.

Mankind must work, and produce, and save against the time when their working days are over. In a word, the business of the world must be carried on, and the more business that is transacted, the more it is produced and exchanged for other products, the better it is for all concerned. Consequently, the fewer restrictions imposed upon the carrying on of the world's business, the better. This great truth is sinking deeper into the minds of men.

Therefore, without further comment, we quote an editorial article appearing in one of Canada's most widely circulated magazines, a publication having no political party affiliations, but which discusses Canadian and world problems in a fair and impartial manner. Under the title appearing above, it says:

"These are the days in which we are regaled or surfeited with economic theories—some ancient and some modern, some untried and some exploded, some original and some borrowed, some thriving and some still-born, some springing like Minerva, full-armed from the head of Jupiter, others old and decrepit no longer fitted for service in the modern world, some that promise better social conditions and more enduring prosperity, and others that if followed would surely lead to anarchy and moral ruin. It may be profitable to consider some of these theories at another time, but for the present, let us turn to the one that is most concrete and most practical—namely, that we should concern ourselves with a concrete problem—one that is growing to be more and more serious, and which must be solved if any of the economic theories now advanced can be rendered workable."

"The basic industry in Canada is agriculture. The basic product in agriculture is wheat. The basic need in the wheat industry is marketing. The basic condition of marketing is exchange value. The basic condition of exchange is open trade. That is lacking at the present time. For four years we have deliberately closed the door. We have thereby encouraged countries which might have exchanged goods with us to grow their own grain. Now we are shut out—some people say forever. True, of late there has been an attempt to undo the mischief, but there has been no apparent success. An accidental shortage of food for stock in the United States made it possible to dispose of some low-grade wheat, but the grainaries are still filled with the best the country has produced. The figure has been given as 286,000,000 bushels. We do not say this is correct, but the exact figure is not essential. Should we sell 4,000,000 bushels a week from now till harvest we should yet have some in store. Some weeks we cannot hope for any such sale as that."

"It is beyond our wisdom to say which is better—to hang on to the surplus in the hope of better days, or to dump a lot on the market at greatly reduced prices in hope of clearing the way for next year's supply. That is the problem for Mr. McFarland, the government, and the farmers to settle."

"Yet it is a most serious problem. There is nothing to be gained by side-tracking it in discussing general economic theories. They need to be discussed without doubt but just now they are secondary. The first problem for Canada is the matter of world trade. Is it to be a free trade? Is it to be a tariff schedule. Is our government prepared to re-write it? Is Mr. Stevens prepared? Is the opposition?"

New Type Of Diesel Engine

Young Canadian Designer Patents Automotive Engine With Great Possibilities

Claim that a revolutionary in automotive engineering had been perfected at St. John's, N.B., was made following the granting of Canadian and United States patents for a new type Diesel engine claimed to be stronger, simpler, more efficient and at least 10 times cheaper to produce than any other engine of the Diesel type.

Karl Angel, young designer, began the construction of his invention in September, 1932. The completed project was tested the following January and found to be successful.

Has Remarkable Memory

Bulgarian Gave Unusual Demonstration And Was Awarded Diploma. Martin Karadimitroff, a thirty-eight-year-old Bulgarian, is preparing to go to England to demonstrate his feats of memory. A special committee saw Martin give a broadcast. He heard a list of 100 words, which had been written secretly, read by the announcer—and repeated them from beginning to end without one mistake. Then he repeated the list backwards, and afterwards said every other word to Martin's astonishment. He repeated a list of 3,000 words before Professor Karadimitroff, of the University of Sofia, and was awarded a diploma.

Tree Blooms Under Glass

A ninety-foot tree in bloom under glass is one of the sights at the New York Botanical Garden this season. It is a sugar pine, and this is the first time it has been brought to bloom in the United States. This specimen was grown from seed received from the Philippines in 1904. The flowering will take several months, perhaps a year, after which the tree dies.

There are now over 100 agricultural colleges in the Soviet Union.

The Baby Airplane

Machine Produced In England Weighs Only 190 Pounds

We have had baby grand pianos, and baby automobiles, and have had jokes poked at the baby Austen, but now comes the baby airplane. A baby aero engine has been produced in England, capable of developing a hundred horsepower and weighing only 190 pounds. The engine is fitted in an "upside-down position, allowing the pilot a clear field of vision. Self-starters are fitted with it, so that the pilot climbing in, merely touches a button and away goes the baby machine like the starting of a motor car. Many of us may yet live to see these babies of the air thick as mid-gets in the summer time.

Perfect Engineering

Crew Drilling Tunnel From Opposite Sides Met In Centre

A direct bull's-eye was scored by two tunnel excavation crews on the Colorado River aqueduct recently when they met in the centre of a mountain after having drilled from opposite side for 17 months. The bore was 3.5 miles long, 17 feet in diameter and represents the first major section of tunnel to be completed in the project by which southern California municipalities seek to augment their water supply. Four shorter tunnels have been completed.—Christian Science Monitor.

HIS LUMBAGO HAS NOT COME BACK

Keeps Free Of It With Kruschen

There can be no doubt about the effectiveness of the remedy this man uses against lumbago. Read his letter.

"About four years ago, I had a bad attack of lumbago. After being in hospital for two weeks taking heat treatment, I started taking Kruschen Salts. Since then, I am happy to say, I have not been troubled with lumbago. I shall still continue taking Kruschen to be sure the lumbago won't come back."—A. C. C.

Why is it that Kruschen is so effective in keeping lumbago at bay? Simply because it goes right down to the root of the trouble, and removes the cause, which is an impure bloodstream. The six salts in Kruschen keep the blood clean and free from impurities by promoting a clockwork regularity of all the organs of elimination.

Twenty Years Late

French Court Clears Family Convicted As Spies During War

Tardy vindication of the memory of a French family, two of whom died in jail for alleged spying and aiding the enemy in war time, was granted on Jan. 19 in a military court. A total of 28,000 francs in damages ($1,850) was awarded to surviving members of the family of Louis Moreau, who had been fighting for twenty years to clear their name. Moreau and two of his sons were sentenced at the time to penal servitude in French Guiana, while his wife got a prison sentence for allegedly signalling to Germans with a bicycle lamp. Moreau and wife died in jail. The two sons later were pardoned by a post-war premier as victims of "war hysteria."

The court decided that the light flashes seen at Moreau's house had not been proved to be signals, since the Moreaus did not know how to send code messages.

Plenty Of Nickel

Developed ore reserves in Canada contain sufficient nickel to meet the world's requirements for more than a generation. O. B. J. Fraser, superintendent of technical service of the International Nickel Company, said in an address before the Rochester section of the American Chemical Society.

Human Thought Photographed

Workings Of A Man's Mind Is Recorded By Russian Device

Human thought has been photographed. A band of irregular lines traced on a sensitive plate in the Moscow Institute of the Brain is the world's first record in black and white of the actual working of a man's mind during a period of sustained mental effort.

The Soviet Union's new "thought-camera," a delicate instrument which picks up the tiny electric waves sent out by the brain and records them photographically, was the device used to expose, for the first time, "what happens inside the skull when a man thinks."

The currents vary drastically when the brain is idle and when it is active, the machine has proved. And precise application of the novel method of "thought recording," in the opinion of the scientists who conduct the institute may eventually lead to perfected diagnosis of mental ailments with a far higher percentage of cures than to-day.

One of the institute's staff—his name cannot be disclosed—made the elaborate machinery of the "thought-camera." Two tiny needles were pressed down to the bone of the skull, through the flesh of the scalp just above the temples.

Wires carried the tiny electric currents of his mind, picked up by the needles, to a transformer which amplified the waves 1,000 times. A watch-hand on a dial began to vibrate with their varying intensity. A camera lens was focused on the dial. A slowly moving film pictured the fluctuations of the needle.

At rest, the mind gave out electric currents that waxed and waned with the regularity of a heart-beat. The picture on the film was one of sharp points alternating with deep depressions—a school-child's scrawl of alpine peaks and valleys seen in profile. Then a command was snapped: "Add 184 and 273."

"The patient" in the chair began to think—to do the sum.

At once the current changed. The peaks and valleys straightened out into a hard, straight line that burned its way across the film for 30 seconds while the man added.

"The answer is 457," he said, and settled back.

The dial line blurred. Slowly the mind resumed its idle beat. The camera film again displayed its chart of peaks and valleys. The first experiment in history in the photography of human thought had been completed.

Bringing In New Ideas

During Depression Years Many Were Not Put Into Effect

Here is an optimistic view of re-juvenating property. In Boston recently Dr. Vannevar Bush, electrical engineer, told a meeting of the Society of Industrial Engineers that the passing of the depression would bring in a flood of new ideas.

During the depression, he said, many good ideas were not put into effect because of business timidity. To add, he said, pessimism that unemployment has come to stay because, according to the present set-up, fewer and fewer workers will be needed. Dr. Bush's theory is that new ideas will demand a new industrial alignment and a spread of industry in a variety of new directions.

Rates On Feed Grain

Application Of Appeal Against Finding Of Board Of Railway Commissioners

Formal application of appeal has been made by Thomas Reid (Lib. Westminster) to the cabinet council against the majority finding of the board of railway commissioners in connection with rates on feed grain and mill feed going from the prairies for local consumption in British Columbia. At present the rate on feed grain and mill feed from Edmonton or Calgary to Vancouver for export is 20 cents per 100 pounds, and if consumed in British Columbia 50 per cent. more in the case of grain and 100 per cent. more in the case of mill feed.

The Overseas Daily Mail says P. C. Walter J. Taylor, who has just retired after 26 years' service in the Southampton police, is believed to be the man who fired the last shot in the Boer War—and, by mistake, injured a British corporal.

DOES NOT HARM THE HEART

New Chemical Formula

Discovery May Help In Treating Nerve Disorders

Columbia University has announced discovery of the chemical formula of Vitamin B, an epochal step toward preservation of health.

B is the nerve vitamin, without which nerves go to pieces. The discovery gives hopes of more effective treatment of nerve disorders.

Until now Vitamin B has been available only from foodstuffs such as tomatoes, spinach, legumes, eggs, yeast, liver, kidney and other glandular tissues. Its extraction was difficult and it has not been obtained entirely pure.

Synthesis will produce the pure vitamin, and it is expected to do so in virtually unlimited quantities. The formula was discovered by Robert R. Williams of Columbia.

The atoms composing the vitamin are carbon, nitrogen, hydrogen, oxygen and sulphur. This fact has been known for a long time. The discovery is how to hook them together so that they will be Vitamin B.

Argentina Crop

Not Coming Up To Previous Estimates Is Report

The current crop of wheat and flax in Argentina was described as not coming up to previous estimates in either quality or quantity in a report to the international agriculture institute.

Results obtained from threshing conducted in the province of Buenos Aires indicated the wheat was below the average. The corn crop and cattle were in good condition, the report said.

IN ONE POT

Cook these three

Carrots, Turnips, Onions

VEGETABLES without intermingling of flavors

It isn't possible to cook such strong-flavored vegetables as carrots, cauliflower and corn in one pot without intermingling or escape of odors. You simply use the Canapar Cookers. That not only stops mixing of odors—but it causes the vegetables to retain all their own natural goodness and flavor. Vegetables cooked the Canapar way are most delicious. Bake or boil in Canapar, too. And line meat pans with Canapar. Save fuel, increase tenderness and flavor. End risk of burning fat. And eliminate pot scrubbing.

HITLER IS TAKING TIME TO REPLY TO PROPOSALS

Berlin.—Upon his own shoulders Adolf Hitler has taken the responsibility of replying to the Anglo-French proposals for an inclusive European security agreement.

So vital does the fuhrer consider Germany's answer it became known that he has barricaded himself behind stacks of papers and documents and gone into monk-like retreat to ponder the momentous decision.

The realm leader, it is said, intends to study the proposals from beginning to end before replying to London and Paris—which have jointly proposed an air alliance for the western European Locarno signatories, Germany's return to Geneva, the reich's adherence to France's eastern Locarno and its eventual inclusion in one diplomatic document. This, it was understood was set forth in detail by Dino Grandi, Italian ambassador, when he called on Sir John Simon, foreign secretary.

Reindeer Trek

Herd Of 2,500 Ready For Last Lap To Permanent Feeding Grounds

Edmonton.—The 2,500 reindeer which herders for many weeks have been holding at the mouth of the Mackenzie in readiness for the 90-mile drive across the delta to permanent feeding grounds on the shore of the Arctic are still at Shingle Point, according to a radio message to the Edmonton Journal from Akavik.

Weather, ice and snow conditions are now favorable but herders are waiting for the approach of the full moon.

Migrating herds of caribou have reached Fort McPherson on the Mackenzie river, 75 miles south, and appear to be heading toward Akavik, giving promise of needed meat supplies.

Large Sum Collected

Excise Tax On Sugar Brings Over Eight Million

Ottawa.—The sum of $8,546,119 was collected from the excise tax on sugar from last April to Dec. 31, according to a return tabled in the House of Commons. Of this total, $8,222,675 was collected on domestic sugar sold and the balance of $323,444 on imported sugar.

For April last, the tax was at the rate of two cents per pound, but this was reduced to one cent from May 1 under the last budget.

Royal Wedding Gown

Gown Worn By Duchess Of Kent May Be Placed In London Museum

London.—It is expected the bridal gown worn by the Duchess of Kent on the occasion of her marriage to Their Majesties, youngest son, on Nov. 29 last, eventually will be placed permanently in the London museum. The museum already holds many other similar royal robes. The dress was on view at St. James Palace for some time, along with the exhibition of wedding presents.

Ship Fodder From North

Prince Albert.—An average of 1,500 cars of fodder a week is being shipped from farms in the Prince Albert division of the Canadian National Railways. About 65 per cent of the baled fodder is for export to the United States, the remainder is to alleviate the feed situation among farmers in the drought-stricken areas of southern Saskatchewan.

Riots in Paris

Many Communists Are Arrested And Arms Confiscated

Paris.—A dramatic last-minute descent upon the capital of several thousand Communists from outlying "Red" districts was broken up by police with 1,200 "preventive" arrests to commemorate the anniversary of the fatal riots of 1934.

Conflicting pistols, clubs and cans of explosive material, police pounced last night upon Communist groups converging on the Place de la Concorde, focus of the bloody riots a year ago where 19 men died, after a generally quiet day marked only by memorial services and elaborate police precautions.

Shortly after midnight police arrested a band of 40 Communists, armed with revolvers and daggers, near the Elysee palace, residence of the French president. Police said they were heading for the Place de la Concorde.

In the earlier roundups two shots were fired but nobody was hurt.

The Reds were picked up at railroad stations, subway entrances and autobus entrances on the outskirts of the city as they gathered from the "Red belt" around Paris and headed toward the centre of the city.

The Communists apparently responded to orders of their leaders to assemble at the Place de la Concorde. The Rightists sought to gather there after their memorial meeting. They came from the outlying suburbs in large groups.

Meanwhile, the Patriotic Youth organization managed 3,000 strong under police escort after the memorial meeting to the Arch of Triumph. There they dipped their flags in salute to the unknown soldier and dispersed.

Shortly after midnight the Place de la Concorde was practically deserted.

Premier Pierre-Etienne Flandin was hooted and hissed, the Place de la Concorde was splashed with red paint and milling crowds clashed twice with police in minor scuffles.

Air Alliance

Ramsay MacDonald Sees It As Effective Move Towards Peace

Luton, England.—The projected European agreement for an air alliance was hailed by Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald as an effective move towards peace. He was addressing a government rally at Luton in Bedfordshire. The prime minister's remarks were received with mingled cheers and jeers.

Under the air agreement, the prime minister said, was established the "most effective deterrent to an aggressor ever established by the diplomacy of the nations." He termed it a great step towards peace and a great step toward making war unthinkable and impossible.

Mr. MacDonald said the Anglo-French declaration had received considerable support by the German people, he hoped with all his heart that as a result Germany would reappear at the League of Nations and the broken road to more international agreements in regard to armaments would be made good again. Like all those who were practical peace-makers, he believed then that nations would move onward towards a state of peace.

Dominion Status For India

Stated That This Is The Ultimate Goal Of British Policy

London.—A definite pledge that Dominion status was the ultimate goal of British policy in India was given by Sir Samuel Hoare, secretary of state for India, as debate opened in the House of Commons on second reading of the bill providing a new constitution for that country.

The declaration was considered as the answer of the government to criticisms levelled in many quarters against omission from the proposed bill of any mention of dominion status.

Sir Samuel said there was no need of a preamble to the present bill similar to that of the act of 1919, which the government had no intention of repeating. That preamble was interpreted by the viceroys in 1929 (Lord Irwin) with the full authority of the government of that day as meaning that dominion status was contemplated as the natural issue of India's progress. The present government stood firmly by the viceroy's statement and the preamble.

Pension Applications

Ottawa.—Probably from 45,000 to 50,000 pension applications will require adjudication by the Canadian pensions commission in the next two years, according to a return tabled in the House of Commons.

Butter Costs

Cost Of Manufacturing Found Of Creamery Butter

Saskatoon.—The average cost of manufacturing a pound of creamery butter in the prairie provinces last year was 3.65 cents and the average creamery turned out 348,432 pounds. These figures were given by C. V. Parker, economics branch, Ottawa, at the manufacturers' session of the provincial dairy convention.

Mr. Parker's survey showed the largest creameries to have the lowest manufacturing cost per pound of butter produced. Plant wages and overhead were much lower in the large plants but salaries and other administration costs were higher.

The highest cost for making a pound of butter in a creamery was 6.71 cents and the lowest 2.42 cents. The big creameries had higher transportation costs.

KIDNAPPER IS GIVEN FIFTEEN YEAR SENTENCE

London.—The week-old trial of David Meisner ended when the former Cincinnati gambler was convicted and sentenced to 15 years in penitentiary on charges connected with the kidnapping of John S. Labatt, wealthy London brewer, last August.

After deliberating one hour and 13 minutes, a Middlesex county justices jury, composed of 10 farmers, a jeweler and a painter, brought in a verdict of guilty on each of three counts.

Mr. Justice G. F. McFarland then sentenced the bookmaker. Meisner heard the same sentence on each count, all to run concurrently.

Two counts dealt with the kidnapping—the abduction and detention of Labatt—and the third charged Meisner with armed robbery. Labatt was abducted near Sarnia last August 14. The armed robbery charge arose from the theft of $99 from Labatt's person when he was taken captive.

Meisner's pallid face wore little expression as he faced the jurors. His mouth dropped slightly as he heard "guilty" pronounced on each count. Before the verdict was announced by Donald Bright, 30-year-old farmer, Meisner mopped his face with a mauve silk handkerchief.

Meisner's expression did not change but he leaned forward and the corners of his mouth moved nervously after the final pronouncement.

Preparing To Give Reports

Miss Buying Commission Working On Exhibits And Records

Ottawa.—Members of the royal commission on price spreads and mass buying were delving into a mountainous heap of exhibits and records, analysing statistics, studying evidence and comparing notes preparatory to writing their report or reports. It was believed a majority and two minority reports may emerge from the commission. Examination of all the documents will occupy about three weeks, Chairman W. W. Kennedy said.

WILL SUPPORT INDIA BILL

Lord Sinha, India's only peer, is expected to support the India Bill in the House of Lords, when he will support the British Government's India Bill in the Lords' debate. Lord Sinha has been prevented from taking his seat in the House of Lords due to the fact that he could produce neither birth certificate or his father's marriage certificate when his father died. The first born married according to the Hindu custom, and it is believed that no certificates, such as are required in England, existed.

Merge Departments

Ottawa Legislation Contemplates A New Set-Up

Ottawa.—Amalgamation of railways and canals, civil aviation, railroads and telephone services and the Canadian radio commission under one minister is contemplated in legislation to set up a department of communications as forecast in the speech from the throne.

The measure will be presented to parliament shortly but will be preceded by acts respecting hours of work which may be brought down this week.

Few details of the merger of communication activities under the new department have been made public and complete information will have to await presentation of the measure in the House of Commons. It is known, however, that the department will have jurisdiction over telephone and telegraph rates. Inclusion of railways and canals removes the necessity of creating an additional portfolio.

Jurisdiction over the Canadian radio commission will be taken away from the department of marine but it is understood the radio-telegraph branch of that department will not be disturbed.

Other items of reform program are approaching readiness for introduction of legislation. They include establishment of an economic council, which will start shortly.

Would Destroy Prize Poultry

Toronto.—All prize birds entered in poultry contests should be slaughtered immediately after the competition, Dr. C. H. Weaver of the Dominion experimental farm, Ottawa, told members of the Canadian National Poultry Record Association in convention here. "Only by such radical action can the spread of infection and contagious diseases among poultry be checked," he said.

Cut In Cde Payments

Riots Staged In Sheffield As A Protest

London.—The cabinet met to consider modifying the provisions for unemployment relief under the unemployment assistance board while protests against the system were voiced through the country.

The government took note of the growing unpopularity of the "needs test" regulations framed by the board and Oliver Stanley, minister of labor, ordered a "standstill" on the regulations and promised that all cuts would be restored.

The protests took violent form at Sheffield. Nine policemen were injured and between 20 and 30 persons arrested when several thousand people clashed with police. The crowd tried unsuccessfully to send representatives to interview the city council.

Stones were thrown and mounted and foot police had to charge into the crowd before order was restored.

Local communities and groups of unemployed in sections where inequalities have been charged—and heightened in some instances officially admitted—registered demands for adjustments of the scales which, if accepted, probably would bring about general increases in the old rates.

Coincident with the creation of the board new regulations were arranged which sliced "dole" payments in some sections and increased them in others.

A general uproar resulted. During recent weeks hundreds of sectional protests, including one demonstration in the public gallery of the House of Commons, have taken place. An estimated 300,000 persons attended various meetings in South Wales alone.

FAVOR PLAN TO DEAL WITH THE DROUTH PROBLEM

Saskatoon.—Two useful points were made by Dean A. M. Shaw, head of the Saskatchewan college of agriculture, in commenting on the proposals of Hon. Robt. Weir, federal minister of agriculture, for dealing with the drouth problem in southern Saskatchewan.

The collection of detailed information was an excellent step and he also thought that the scheme was good in that it did not call for great expenditure of public money. Many of the suggested larger schemes called for more conclusive evidence than at present existed, Dean Shaw commented.

A drouth plan similar to that proposed by Hon. Robt. Weir was recommended by a committee on agriculture reporting to the Bryant commission two years ago, Hon. J. G. Taggart, Saskatchewan minister of agriculture, said.

Dean A. M. Shaw, Dr. L. E. Kirk and Mr. Taggart were members of that committee.

The plan was recommended as a means of getting information about the best method of dealing with drouth conditions.

Mr. Taggart said there was a lack of evidence to support many ideas put forward to combat drouth.

While the scheme would be valuable as a means of getting information its effects could not be felt for some years even in the areas where the work was undertaken. The eight townships selected as demonstration townships might contain 320 farmers, while the number of farms in the area affected by drouth was about 40,000.

"While these demonstrations are set up and carried on, we cannot allow these farmers to wait without applying such knowledge as we have towards their problems," Mr. Taggart said. "We propose to go ahead with our plans at once although welcoming any information that may come from these demonstrations," he concluded.

Test Proved Fatal

Madras, India.—A fatal test of a snakebite cure for acute tuberculosis was made by a brahmin here. Inspired by his diety, the triple-headed goddess Datt, to try the cure, the brahmin ferreted out a cobra, the deadliest Indian reptile, and permitted the snake to bite him repeatedly. He died in agony shortly afterward.

Predicts Ocean Air Route

Plymouth, England.—Sir Philip Sassoon, British under-secretary for air, told the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce he looked forward to inauguration of a trans-Atlantic air route from Britain to the United States and Canada.

OVERSEAS LEAGUE SITS IN AT FIRST RADIO LUNCHEON

London.—Two hundred members of the Overseas League, under the presidency of Sir Evelyn Wrench, participated in the first "wireless" luncheon. At the same time delegates to the imperial press conference in South Africa were gathered about the table in Capetown and messages were exchanged between the two functions over a 6,000-mile circuit.

Sir Kingsley Wood, postmaster-general, led off the speeches with greetings to the company in South Africa and with perfect clarity, with the reply of Hon. C. F. Clarkson, minister of posts and telegraphs of South Africa. A short speech by J. H. Thomas, minister for dominions in "Jim's" best vein, was answered by General J. B. Hertzog, prime minister of South Africa.

"The stay of the imperial press conference delegates in South Africa," Prime Minister Hertzog said, "will afford them so much an opportunity of getting a profound insight into all our problems, and attempts to solve them, as to come into closest contact with the people of the union, thereby enabling them in their future writings on South African topics to visualize us in the brotherhood of common human weakness." An strength—subject to the same fallings, but also inspired by the same high ideals, as the rest of the people of the commonwealth."

Alberta Legislature

Greater Outlay For Roads Is Forecast In Throne Speech

Edmonton.—Greater outlays on secondary and market roads in this province, assistance for needy settlers in cultivating new homesteads areas and revision of rules of court were forecast in the throne speech presented at the opening of the Alberta legislature by Hon. W. L. Walsh, lieutenant-governor.

The speech, stated that a bill will be presented to the house providing for the establishment of the office of public trustee, while there will be amending acts dealing with debt adjustment, consolidation of local areas and other matters of importance.

While a new redistribution act is generally understood to be on the way, the speech made no mention of such legislation.

A special report dealing with the provincial telephone department will be submitted to the house, along with certain suggested steps to give effect to recommendations.

Referring to the provincial road system, the speech said that completion of the main arterial highways may be looked for soon. In view of that simplifying irregular expedients besides reducing the costs of litigation.

Drumheller has turned down a scrip method proposition for financing.

A. A. Mackenzie, relief supervisor, was in town from Edmonton last week end.

The Columbus Club will sponsor a dance to be held in the Columbus hall on the night of Friday, March 1st.

Please note: The L.O.D.E., and not the town council of Blairmore, initiated the movement for free dental treatment at the Blairmore schools.

A dance under the auspices of St. Joseph's Altar Society will be held in Wilson's hall at Cowley on the night of Friday, February the 22nd.

Roy Grier, son of the late David Grier, died at Macleod at the age of 49 years. He attended his father's funeral but twelve days previous.

Councillor Allan Hamilton, Drumheller, voiced objections to making a grant to the Salvation Army's social service work.

Firemen were called out at an early hour this morning to a garage in the south part of town, where an automobile was destroyed and the garage considerably charred.

Blairmore is not the only place in the world that can manufacture a manifesto, for one was produced in Ottawa a few days ago—and the author knew enough to sign it!

Homestead entries in Alberta during 1934 were 3,039, compared with 3,580 in 1933. In 1934, there was 926 taken up by women, compared with 929 in 1933.

An entertainment will be given in the United church auditorium on the night of Wednesday, February the 27th. Included in the programme will be a short play entitled "The Dearest Thing in Boots."

The provincial department of municipal affairs should figure out what right the town council of Blairmore had in financing Alberta delegates to Russia. Not a cent of our revenue was ever raised for the purpose, and it constitutes a clear case of misappropriation of funds, just as glaring as ever sent an individual to jail.

Two words left out of the following item last week makes necessary the re-printing of the item correct: Mrs. Gaston Bazille succeeds Mr. B. G. Bannan as member of the Blairmore Board of School Trustees. We might state that the reports in the daily press, claiming that this is the first time in the history of Blairmore that a woman has been elected to such position is incorrect, for Mrs. P. M. Christophers served as a member of the board here for several years.

William Graham, night shift fire boss in the McGillivray mine at Coleman, was found dead in the mine on Monday morning after an extensive search in the workings. He failed to report at the pit head at the usual time for the shift coming off work. The remains will be laid to rest at Coleman this afternoon. Mr. Graham is survived by his wife and three children, also a brother, residing in Coleman. He was forty-six years of age.

Miss Barbara Craig, in celebrating her ninth birthday, was hostess at a birthday party at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. K. G. Craig, on Wednesday afternoon, January 30th, when she entertained ten of her school friends. A dainty supper was served at 6:30 at a table centred with a birthday cake alight with nine candles and containing birthday novelties. The afternoon was spent in a jolly manner in games and contests, when amusing prizes were awarded.—Macleod Gazette.

HANDICRAFT EXHIBIT

Announcement is made of an interesting exhibit, in charge of Major Norbury, who comes under the auspices of the Provincial Institute of Technology and Art. He is a sculptor, has frequently acted as an art critic, has taught in Edmonton Technical school and has had experience as a lecturer. His visit should prove of interest and cultural value which should be taken advantage of.

This exhibit of handicraft will be shown on Friday and Saturday, February 15th and 16th, in the store recently vacated by Blairmore Hardware, and comes well recommended. It is made possible to Alberta towns through the Carnegie Foundation and sponsored locally by the Blairmore School Board.

The Social Credit straw vote is being taken in Blairmore and will likely be completed at the week end.

Those taking in the week end excursion to Calgary, included Mrs. D. A. Howe, Mrs. D. Kemp, sr., and Mrs. T. J. Williams.

Tony asks why that so-called manifesto was not properly named "ultimatum." Anyway it's the world's biggest brain wave!

Jimmy Joyce, of the Coleman Canadians, scored no less than five goals against Bellevue Bulldogs on Saturday night.

The Golden Key group of the United church will hold a tea and sale on Saturday, February 16th, from 3 to 6 p.m.

Lost, between Victoria Street and the Blairmore union cemetery, a black and white terrier. Finder rewarded. Name and address on collar of owner.

By the adoption of the resolution which urged the Alberta Government to engage the services of Major C. H. Douglas, delegates to the U.F.A. convention made it quite clear that in rejecting Aberhartism, which is not social credit at all, they had by no means turned their backs on social credit.—The United Farmer.
